

Linking One Wiki Page to Another

To link text on a page to another wiki page, be sure you are first in “Edit” mode.

Option 1: Using the “Add Link” Button

You can link one wiki page to another by using the "Add Link" button on your tool bar. Simply select the text you would like to link to the file, then click the "Add Link" button. You can select the correct file by either entering the name of the page, web address, or file and hitting return, OR you can click "Browse Pages & Files" and locate the file there.

Once you've located the correct item to link, hit the "Return" or "Enter" key on your computer, and click away from the linked text.

Option 2: Using “Insert Links”

First, highlight the text you want linked, and second, find the name of the page under the “Insert links” heading and on the “Pages” tab. The highlighted text is linked if it now has a line under it.

The screenshot shows a wiki editor interface for a page titled "Practice". The top navigation bar includes "VIEW" and "EDIT" tabs, with "EDIT" being the active tab. The page content area shows the text "Click here for more information on the National Weather Service." where "National Weather Service" is highlighted. An orange arrow points from the text "1. Highlight text you would like to link" to the highlighted text. The right sidebar contains a "Page Tools" section with a note "This page can't be deleted or renamed." and an "Insert links" section. The "Insert links" section has two tabs: "Pages" and "Images and files", with "Pages" being the active tab. Under the "Pages" tab, there is a link "Insert a link to a new page" and a list of pages: "National Weather Service", "007 Linking from One Wiki Page to", "000", "011 Adding Multimedia", and "013 Modifying Frequency of". An orange arrow points from the text "2. Find the name of the page under 'Insert links' heading and 'Pages' tab. Click on the page link to insert a link." to the "National Weather Service" link in the list.

1. Highlight text you would like to link

2. Find the name of the page under "Insert links" heading and "Pages" tab. Click on the page link to insert a link.

Be sure to save your changes before leaving the page.
